1. On-trip List (what the participant needs while on the actual expedition):

Gear

Item	Quantity	Helpful information
Hiking backpack	1	A proper hiking backpack that has a rigid internal frame, padded hip-straps, rated to carry at least 30 lbs and has a 50-80L capacity. Please remember to ensure this backpack actually fits before the program begins.
Rain cover	1	A fully waterproof, seam-sealed rain cover that covers the entire backpack.
30L-50L dry sack	1	A fully waterproof, seam-sealed dry sack. This will be used as a pack liner to protect clothing and other items from getting wet.
Water shoes	1 pair	A solid pair of sandals, amphibious shoes, or water shoes to be worn while canoeing.
Hiking boots	1 pair	Need to be above the ankle bone, also known as high-top hiking boots. If you are buying hiking boots for this program please make sure to wear them hiking for a few days before the program as they will need to be broken in.
Sleeping bag	1	Down or synthetic sleeping bags are both good options. The packed volume should not exceed 6L and weigh not more than 4 lbs. The bag must be rated to at least -5 C, the ideal range is -5 C to -12 C.
Sleeping bag compression sack	1	We highly recommend storing your sleeping bag in a fully waterproof, seam sealed compression sack.
Sleeping pad	1	An inflatable sleeping pad that packs down smaller than 2L and weighs less than 1.5 lbs. Please check to your mat has no leaks before bringing it on trip. Participants can also use foam camping mats (not recommended).
Sleeping pad stuff sack	1	All inflatable sleeping pads must be stored in stuff sacks and cannot be loose. This makes them easier to pack and protects them from being punctured.

A note on cotton

Cotton is not ideal for any backcountry environment. When cotton absorbs moisture it gets heavy and no longer insulates, instead it actually draws heat away from the body. Other fibers such as wool and synthetics don't get as heavy and still have some insulating ability when wet. We don't have the ability to dry clothing in the backcountry. It can become a safety hazard.
